

FIRST NIGHT OF SHOW WAS GREAT SUCCESS

The judges for the evening were: Mr. Stotesbury, who is known the country over as the owner of crack pointers, added fresh laurels to his stable's reputation.

The judges for the evening were: Roadsters—Mr. W. J. Carter, of Manchester.

Horses and Ponies—Mr. Gen. G. Claussen, of New York, and Mr. Richard P. Stricker, of New Jersey.

Hunters and Jumpers—Mr. A. S. Craven, of Virginia, and Mr. Jas. K. Merryman, of Maryland.

Horses and Ponies under saddle—Mr. Geo. C. Claussen, of New York; Mr. Chas. H. Harkness, of Virginia, and Mr. Lewis E. Waring, of New Jersey.

Story of the Night.

The opening class brought out the good, big number of thirty-one, and practically included all the jumping horses entered. It might be called a general parade, giving to the public an opportunity to "look 'em over." Many of those on the bark were worth the inspection. Promptly at 8 the bugles sounded his call, and the "white wings" walked out with the jumps at about a mile an hour.

Hannister rapped the brush hard and knocked the rails down. Lady Alice went clean, and the crowd began to take heart again. Keswick, the great winner, went clean, with Majesty following in the same manner. King Dodo rapped the rails hard, and Centennial went clean. Frodo then rapped the brush behind and refused the rails, afterwards going clean. Interpreter rapped. Firelight rapped the brush and rails, but Jack Frost went clean. Crackerjack, the high jumper, rapped the rails, and Christine tipped. Lady Vivian rapped the brush hard and knocked down the rails. Tacomite went clean, beautifully, and got the first hand of the show. Gringo rapped. Chief knocked down the brush, but Kingsman rapped the rails. Red Haven went clean. Constance unsaddled her rider on the brush by refusing, and then refused the rails and was given the gate. Onorio went clean, and Blue Belle tipped the rails. Black Socks went clean and won applause, and then Midlothian tipped the rails. Brandon went clean also. George E. Cain and Virginia tipped. David Gray went clean, and Carnation knocked down the brush. Ardsley went clean. Squedunk tipped lightly. Cygnus went clean.

David Gray, Keswick, Red Haven, Centennial, Tacomite, Ardsley and Onorio were then brought in, and the ribbons were pinned as follows: Keswick, blue; Tacomite, red; Ardsley, yellow; David Gray, white.

A Showy Lot.

Ponies in harness came next, and all of the entries came in. They were all a showy lot. After a little warming up the judges seemed to like Helen Miller best, and gave her the blue. Clydevale Champion, driven by Mr. Vanderbilt, got the red; Welsh Princess the yellow, and Welsh Rarebit the white. This class was hotly contested.

Only eight showed up in the novice harness class to contest in one of the prettiest classes ever seen here. After somewhat of a wait the judges gave the ribbons as follows: Chiquita the blue, Advance Guard the red, Oriole the yellow, Hinks the white.

Class 28 for saddle horses, non-winners prior to 1907, had seven out of the eleven entries. Some good ones were shown, the awards going as follows: Durham the blue, Gen. Forest the red, Sarnia the yellow, Majesty the white.

Mr. Vanderbilt Drives.

Horses in harness exceeding 15.5 were called. Only five of the ten entries appeared. Dr. Selwack, with Mr. Vanderbilt driving, easily had the rest at his mercy. The awards went as follows: Dr. Selwack the blue, West Virginia the red, Viscount the yellow, Dictator the white.

The class for roadsters offered the first excitement of the evening. Lady Princess, owned by C. L. Whitcomb, got her front foot in the hind wheel of Mr. Stotesbury's speed wagon to which his mare Leonora was hitched. Happily nothing serious happened. Leonora, however, had to be put to another wagon. The class was a good one. The awards went as follows: Lucy G. the blue, Leonora the red, Enid the yellow, Frodo the white.

As Mr. Frank H. Caven, of Philadelphia, had not come, the class was judged by Mr. W. J. Carter, of this city, so well known as "Broad Rock."

In the class for ladies' saddle horses, not exceeding fifteen hands, to be ridden by ladies, all five entries appeared for the plate offered by Mr. John Kerr Branch, of this city. This was the closest class of the night, and the Judges had the horses out time after time. St. Agnes and Durham, both Mr. Rufus L. Patterson's entries, were beautifully ridden by Mrs. Belle Beach Bain. Mrs. Potts rode her mare Radiant. Miss Flynn had the mount on Julian Morris's Maid of the Oaks. Miss Taylor, of New York, rode Radiant, entered by Elsinore Farm.

After the entries had been made to go through the whole game of ladies' saddle horses such as changing the lead, standing, etc., and a long wait, the ribbons went as follows: and hinks; blue to Durham, red to Radiant, yellow to Reliance, white to Maid of the Oaks.

Another interesting thing in connection with this class is that Mrs. Belle Beach Bain just did reach the building in time to ride. She was immediately recognized and given "the hand."

Pairs of hunters to be ridden abreast over regular jumps came next. Jack Frost and Tacomite went clean; Gringo and Lady Alice went clean; David Gray and Keswick went clean; Centennial and Midlothian went clean; King Dodo and Safe Conveyance went next, the latter refusing twice and knocking down one hurdle; Onorio and Carnation went clean; Kingsman and Interpreter went clean; Bluebells and Majesty went clean.

The judges gave first to Jack Frost and Tacomite, second to Centennial and Midlothian, third to David Gray and Keswick.

The last class was for light-weight qualified hunters.

The first five jumpers, King Dodo, Onorio, Brandon, Keswick, and Christine all went clean; Midlothian rapped lightly; Firelight knocked down two hurdles; Chief tipped twice and Cygnus once.

The judges awarded the blue to Onorio, the red to Keswick, the yellow to King Dodo and the white to Cygnus.
